

SALVATION ARMY ENDS DRIVE $7,000 SHORT

Horace Hagan Declares Campaign Is Ended Until Fall When Remainder Will Be Sought.

Tulsa's Salvation Army drive for a fund of $20,000 ended Wednesday evening with $13,000 in the treasury. The drive began last Tuesday, June 17, with a corps of workers enlisted for service. An executive committee headed by Horace Hagan, president of the American Legion and consisting of some of the most prominent citizens in the city, including representatives from each civic club, directed the campaign.

It is the purpose of the Salvation Army, local corps, to enlarge the fund at 129 West Second and it was for this purpose the drive was inaugurated. With the $13,000 now in the treasury, the drive will be continued in the near future on an additional story to be added over the present building. This addition will be converted into a lodging place for returned soldiers and their families and may later be used as a working girls' hospital when the labor situation has cleared.

After the addition has been built a second campaign will be staged this fall, according to Hagan, through which it is expected to raise the $7,000 deficit. Hagan attributes the failure of the drive to loss of interest among the workers after the first few days of campaigning.

Mexicans Plead Not Guilty

Remaining plea of not guilty to the charge of murder, Jose Alvarez and a Toluca, accused of fatally wounding J. T. Teron, a Mexican, at Hickory mines last Sunday night, were committed to jail without bond at their arraignment before Judge S. C. Mayes Wednesday afternoon, for preliminary hearing July 3. Teron, first recovering from the two bullet wounds alleged to have been inflicted by Alvarez, died at a local hospital Tuesday night. The shooting is said to have been the outgrowth of a "choc" beer party, after which the defendant, Alvarez, fatally wounded Teron and assaulted another Mexican and his wife.

A. Luther, 23 and Lottie S. Luel, 19, Fort Worth, Texas; George F. Beatty, 20 and Helen M. Schebe, 19, Tulsa; James H. Franklin, 26 and Lillie M. Wright, 19, Tulsa.

CITY BRIEFS

B. F. BARNETT, teller at the First National bank, is the father of an 11-year-old boy, born yesterday at the Barnett home, living place.

PAUL PINSON of Muskogee, formerly assistant United States attorney, visited Tulsa on legal business yesterday.

FUNERAL SERVICES were held for the Mrs. Leoline R. Trickey yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock from the Kansas City and will resume at 10 o'clock in the First National bank at that place.

MISS RUE NIERMAN, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Madge Shirkley, has returned to her home in Kansas City and will resume her old position with the Interstate National bank at that place.

A NURSING BABY, nine for children under 14 years of age was opened at the Celia Clinton school in West Tulsa Tuesday by the child welfare board. The clinic will be held regularly with a physician and nurse in charge.

DR. C. R. MCALESTER, wanted on three charges of the illegal sale of narcotics is being held at Memphis, Tenn., awaiting the arrival of Marshal John J. Moran. McAlester is accused of having jumped his bond on each charge.

SWIMMING CLASSES of the girls work department of the Y. W. C. A. will go to Sand Springs park at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon for a picnic and supper. The girls will meet at the Y. W. C. A. building and go out together chaperoned by Miss Leoline Berlin.

MISS LOUISE FIERCE, assistant general secretary of the state tuberculosis association, spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Tulsa investigating the Tulsa association and in visiting a number of patients in company with Miss Bessie M. Richardson, nurse at the dispensary. She was favorably impressed with the selection of a colored nurse.

THE TULSA COUNTY Elberta peach crop is small enough to be entirely disposed of by home consumption. It was learned yesterday after an investigation by J. A. Farquharson, representative of the state market commission at Oklahoma City. Farquharson spent Wednesday in Tulsa consulting with J. S. Malone, county farm agent, on the question of Tulsa county crops.

THE SIXTH, seventh and eighth grades of summer school have been combined with the corresponding grades of other schools because of the small number of pupils in attendance, being moved from Irving to Osage and from Lowell to Washington. Consolidation was not necessary in the lower grades. Celia Clinton school has the largest enrollment with 145 pupils.

LUTHER MARR, who recently returned from Westworth Military academy at Lexington, Mo., began work at the First National bank this morning. Mr. Marr formerly worked at the bank but enlisted in the motor transport division of the army. The armistice prevented his being called into service so he went to Westworth determined to have some army service.

JIM AUSTIN, charged with the theft of two automobile tires on June 12, 1918, was bound over for trial in the district court at the close of his preliminary hearing by Justice J. H. Gray. Austin was arrested with tires of the Steiner Tire company in his possession but slipped his $1,000 bond before trial and remained away several months. He was arrested on his return and held in the county jail.

CORNELIUS MERTENS, a Belgian, after telling the story of his life at the federal state employment office yesterday, was given a job in the harvest fields but without money or friends was unable to pay his railroad fare to the job in the wheat fields. On hearing of his attempt to work his way back to Belgium a fellow applicant staked him to railroad fare to give him an opportunity to get back to his home and family.

ON PROOF that he was ill and confined to his home when his case was called, an order was made by Judge Raymond S. Cole in the district court yesterday setting aside the order of bond forfeiture by Robert L. Stevens, charged with automobile theft, and a new bond of $3,000 for appearance at the September term was required of Stevens. Stevens was charged jointly with F. W. King of the theft of two cars on May 11. King was dismissed because of insufficient evidence.

Summer Diarrhoea can be controlled more quickly with ROYAL BABY ROWER. MEDICINE and it is absolutely harmless. Just as effective for adults as for children. Price 30c—Adv.

Hickle Got the Beans Alright; He and Wife Finish With Coppers

Linnie Hickle, colored, was cooking beans for lunch yesterday morning when her husband Willie Hickle slipped up behind her and rapped her once or twice on the jaw just to hurry the meal along a little. It took a few minutes of beating before Willie got any results but when Linnie gathered herself together the meal came and came quickly, so quickly that Willie didn't even have time to dodge. When Officer Williams arrived on the scene Hickle still was wiping the meaning beans from his face and head.

Judge Warren gave them each a fine of $10 and costs in the municipal court for "being so careless in throwing food around under the present high prices."

BURNS SUES CITY FOR DAMAGE IN BIG FLOOD

Asking damages of $3,000, alleged to have been sustained by the plaintiff when water collected and held by grading on Eighteenth street, east of Main street, on the night of June 7 flooded the premises owned by the plaintiff, suit was filed in district court Wednesday by Foster Burns against the city of Tulsa.

Burns claims that as owner of the lot and residence described as 1745 South Main street, he was damaged in the sum asked in the suit through the failure of the city to provide drainage culverts under the roadway grading which at a point 100 feet east of Main street on Eighteenth street, was laid across a draw into which the water drained from the north. Burns claims his residence and garage were flooded by the impounded water and that the grass was washed from his lawn.

CROSSLAND, ALLEGED EMBEZZLER, IS FREE

R. G. Crossland, charged with embezzlement of $205 from Morris & Co., packers, some time prior to June 12, 1918, was released on hearing of his habeas corpus petition filed in district court Wednesday morning. Judge Owen Owen holding that under the law the defendant was held in the county jail without authority of law.

Crossland, through his attorney, claimed that he was held for several months in the county jail under an information to which defendant was sustained by Judge Raymond S. Cole last week. The petitioner claimed, and was upheld by the court at the hearing Wednesday, that the court gave the county attorney's office leave to file an amended information, while as a matter of law the court should have ordered such an information to be made by the county attorney's office.

Draws One Year in Pen for Stealing $175 in Cigarettes

C. E. Every, found over for trial by the district court two weeks ago on the charge of stealing cigarettes to the value of $175 from a box car on the Pease road of west in 1918, was sentenced to one year in the state penitentiary at McAlester.

Every, through counsel, told the court that he was unable to make bond for appearance at the trial of his case the coming fall, and that since he had a wife and two children to support he would rather be sentenced by the court immediately and begin serving his term.
